[REPORTED SPECIALLY FOR THE STAR.] HAMILTON .- Major McClung addressed a union of all the literary clubs in the city last night at the residence of nd well kept. Rumor has it that Hamilton will lose one of her fairest daughters next week. Some classes of business seem to have brightened up amazingly as the holidays approach.

The policemen have received their overcoats and look quite comfortable.
Yesterday Judge Hume dismissed the suit of the Garvers against the city at the cost of the defendant. The suit was to recover some $3,000 damages and to obtain a restraining order to prohibit the city from rendering dead animals on a certain piece of property leased by the city for that purpose.

LEXINGTON, KY .- Next Thursday the Council meets, when the question as to whether "drummers" shall be taxed for coming to our beautiful "burgh" and selling goods by sample will be the principal business of the evening. We also hear that two of the large milk dealers are urging Council to again take up the milk ordinance of Dennis Mulligan, so gioriously defeated at their last meeting.

filled by W. P. Harding, editor of the Tribune, of Cambridge City.

If you visit Cambridge City stop at the Central Hotel. W. P. Stahr, the proprietor, is a gentleman that tooks after the comfort of his guests.

Eugene M. Taylor, of the "J. A. Stevens Combination," who fell out of a window on the second floor of the Central Hotel, has so far recovered as to be able to join the party to-day at Rushville, Indiana. Taylor, in fatting, landed in a marble-yard. One can imagine his feelings when he came to his senses and mistook the place for a graveyard. He managed to reach a drug store, and in trying to arouse the proprietor he broke a large glass, but did not fail through it, as a late dispatch from this place says.

Judge Mallory, who has been the cause of considerable newspaper talk lately, has been indicted for maifeasance in the discharge of his official duties. We think Cambridge wants a change bad.

LOCAL NEWS.

Amusements.

A severe case of small-pox in the Fourth ward was yesterday reported at the Health Office.

A committee visited the fertilizing establishment south of the city Saturday. All things are reported in good condition and well kent.

this house last evening to a large audience, though not so large, we venture to say, as those that will be when the public discover the true merits of the piece as now presented. It is, to say the least of it, something stupendous in the way both of scenic and mechanical effect. In gorgeousness it far excels "Undine," the "Black Crook" or any of our modern spectacular plays, and in mechanical effect, it is truly astonishing. The introduction upon the stage of such novelties as a steamship and a locomotive, puffing and blowing "real steam" as they say, was too great a surprise for the audience, and thunders of applause were called forth. Wonder after wonder of a similar nature was revealed in regular order, each a climax as we may say to the other, until with the finale everybody was willing to pronounce "Around the World" a grand success. The ballet and vast corps of supernumeraries were well drilled considering, and beautifully costumed, not even the most insignificant part being neglected, as effect is the great thing saimed at; and although the machinery worked badiy last night, causing one or two disagreeable delays, making the monsensical in some portions, but the plot as taken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to exceed a local staken from Verne is good and teams to ex

The dialogue is flat and insipid, even nonsensical in some portions, but the plot as taken from Verne is good and strongly worked up, which is another novelty in the spectacular line, as the plot (?) in most such plays seems to be only to show as many well turned legs and ankles as possible, wholly disregarding anything that pertains to brains. The characters were all well sustained last evening, especially that of "Phineas Fogg," the Englishman, who forms the central figure of the play, he being the one who has laid the wager that he will make the voyage 'round the world in eighty days. The "Servant," Mr. W. H. Lytle, was also good, and kept the audience in a good humor from beginning to close. There will be a mannee on both Wednesday and Saturday.

Wood's THEATER. —Mr. Joseph Proctor, supported by the entire strength of the Company, including Miss Laura Don, the new leading lady, appeared as "Nick of the Woods," last evening. The play ran very nicely indeed, and deserved a much better audience than it drew last evening. We hope to see Miss Don in a stronger and more suitable part before long.
